Segis

The Tee table by Bartoli Design is no one thing. Minimalist three-pronged lacquered bases in white, red, or gray can be combined with tops in glass, melamine, lacquered wood, or wood veneer to create any number of tables or desks. Bespoke options are also available, so the only limit is your imagination. 423-317-0162; segis-usa.com. circle 453

Property

Circles, ovals, and rectangles form crisp geometrics in the Capri table by Ferruccio Laviani. Customize your colors—or choose from blue, white, or black laminate or white, black, or orange ceramic. For those wanting a more muted palette, there's also an oak-veneer option. Available as a coffee table and two sizes of dining table. 917-237-0123; propertyfurniture.com. circle 457

Studio Roeper

Designer Florian Roeper's Candy collection includes this sweet leather-wrapped coffee table, topped in a mix of metal leaf and black lacquer sealed below layers of crystal-clear epoxy resin. Choose between silver, gold, and copper leaf. What could be more delicious? 415-216-5714; studioroeper.com. circle 454

Mooodi

The Container series expands with the New Antiques table. Reminiscent of turned-wood chess pieces, they unite modern materials with Victorian-era charm. Fill the hollow polyethylene base with sand or water for stability and you're good to go. 31-76-578-4444; mooodi.com. circle 455 ➔

Dar en Art

Light filters through Charles Kalpakian's Hawa folding screen with the kinetic movement of desert winds. Two sizes and two colorways are offered. Also by the Beirut-born designer is the screen's perfect complement, the Ahlan beech sofa, offered in the three-shades-of-blue colorway shown as well as a khaki version with canary-yellow cushions. 06-19-34-37-15; darenart.com. circle 456
